Radha Madhava Adarsh Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Nambol, Manipur National Workshop on Jyotish (Golparibhasa) Successfully Concludes

Radha Madhava Adarsh Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Nambol, Manipur, successfully conducted a 10-day National Workshop on Jyotish (Golparibhasa) from 22nd to 31st May 2025, organized under the academic development program of the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC). The workshop aimed to promote traditional Indian astronomical knowledge through intensive orientation sessions and hands-on training.

The key resource person for the workshop was Dr. Nimadhab Dash, a distinguished scholar from Central Sanskrit University, Shri Sadashiv Campus, Puri. His insightful lectures delved deep into the theoretical and practical aspects of Golparibhasa, a critical branch of classical Indian Jyotiṣh, making the sessions both informative and inspiring for the participants.

The inaugural and valedictory functions were held in the presence of the college's academic leadership, faculty, and students. The principal and faculty members extended a warm welcome to Dr. Dash, who was honoured with traditional gifts and heartfelt appreciation. The event was marked by active participation from both current and former Jyotish students, as well as interested scholars from other institutions in India.

Certificates of participation were distributed to the participants who completed the workshop successfully. The program concluded on a positive note, with a vote of thanks and commitments to organize more such traditional knowledge-based programs in the future.
